VALUABLE AND DESIRABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

ON THE 20TH DAY OF DECEMBER, THE SUBscribers will sell at auction, for cash, the site on the Cape Fear River at Fayetteville, where the Clarendon Bridge formerly stood, including Toll House the Land on both sides of the River, Piers and whatever is left of the property. The sale will be made on the express condition that the purchaser is to build a new, double track, covered bridge, the length of which will be six hundred feet or thereabout.

The site is very desirable to persons having the necessary capital for the work to be done. There is no bridge now on the river. The investment of money in this contemplated work, so near as it is to a large market town, must prove largely remunerative.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Editor.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1865.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months,	$5,00
For one month	1,00
" two months	2,00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

Subscribers, etc.

A number of our friends owe us for subscription and advertising. We need the amount and will be obliged to our friends if they will send it to us by Express or by safe hands. The members of the Legislature will afford a good chance.

The Sentinel will be enlarged in a few days.

Difficulties in the way of Recuperation.

The speedy restoration of the South to the Union, which we are sure our people desire, and the revival of confidence and full business relations between the two sections, are important to the recuperation of the South. But the great barrier to an early and steady advance on the road to success in the South, is the want of money or capital. The destruction of slavery and the prostration of our Banking system, must keep the South prostrate for years under the heavy taxation to which we must submit. But the loss of slavery would be speedily compensated, by the restoration or introduction of labor, provided money could be obtained.

The Banking system provided by the government may prove a profitable business to the government and to a few capitalisists, but it must operate ruinously upon the great body of the people. At present the industrial energies of the South are prostrate. Manufactories, farms, work shops, and mining operations are lying idle for the want of funds to put and keep them in motion.

If the Banks of this State could revive their business under any thing like favorable circumstances, they could not only save something to the stockholders and prevent utter loss, but could give such an impetus to enterprise by furnishing accommodation to those who would use it profitably, as would completely regenerate the State in a few years. Can nothing be done to effect this? Cannot the actual state of our monetary condition be so presented to Congress, as to move it to modify its policy in some respects, so as to save us from utter helplessness.

The mere buying and selling of goods and the few products which are made, though it present the appearance of business, is simply a prostrating operation. If our farmers, mechanics, manufacturers and miners cannot go to work for the want of money, what is to become of our merchants in the next year? Let our statesmen take this question to heart.

[Rev. Dr. Deems.]

We observe that the New York papers first announced the rumor that the Rev. Dr. Deems had arrived in New York city to commence the publication of the Watchman; and some of our State papers have repeated it. We think it proper to state, that the rumor is a mistake, as to time. Dr. Deems' arrangements are made or nearly so, for issuing the Watchman in the city of New York about the 1st. of January next, but he has not yet left his work in this State, but is still on his District and held his last Quarterly Meeting at Newbern on last Sabbath. The Dr. will not leave for New York until after the session of the N. C. Conference, which will commence its session in this city on the 6th of Dec. next. Up to that period he will be glad to receive letters from his friends directed to this place, and subscriptions to his paper. After the Conference, he will go to New York, where he will be glad to hear from his friends. The Dr. does not expect either to transfer his citizenship or his ecclesiastical relations from North Carolina. He expects to hold North Carolina as his home, and to have his bones laid in the good old North State. The work of publishing the Watchman and preaching the gospel in New York, will be commenced from a sense of duty to the South and to the Union, to be prosecuted so long as Providence and the will of the Church may require it. His object will be, so far as we understand it, to give the North a more thorough and correct idea of Southern feelings, sentiments and principles, both ecclesiastically and politically, than it now has, and the South a more thorough and correct view of Northern feelings, sentiments and principles, than it now has; in the hope that it may promote the mutual benefit of both and of the whole nation.

Official Vote for Governor.

The following is the aggregate vote of sixty-six counties:

For Mr. Worth,	27,554
" Gov. Holden,	20,507
Mr. Worth's maj.	7,047

The following Counties remain to be heard from, which will probably reduce Mr. Worth's majority to less than 6000: Alleghany, Ashe, Beaufort, Cherokee and Clay, Currituck, Gates, Haywood, Jackson, Lenoir, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Moore, Onslow, Polk, Stanly, Tyrrell, Watauga, Yadkin, and Yancey. The official vote is very slow in reaching the office of Secretary of State.

President Johnson's Opinion.

We learn that a gentleman who has recently visited Washington City on business, and whose relations to the government authorize the belief that he knows whereof he affirms, has definitely stated to friends here, that the results of the late election in this State, are in no wise displeasing to President Johnson—that the President desired the people to have a free expression of their choice, and that he by no means objects to Mr. Worth.

NEWBERN TIMES.—The Junior thinks that we did him injustice, not waranted by his attack upon the Sentinel, by insinuating that he had ignored his affection for and devotion to the South by his recent attempts to "harmonize with the situation?" Our remark was based upon what we had seen in the Times. We found that others had formed the same opinion. As the Junior however claims that the allusion is unjust to him and not in accordance with the facts, we of course give him the benefit of his disclaimer, and withdraw any remark we have made contrary to fact and offensive to him.

Gen Robert E. Lee recently forwarded a request to the War Department for permission to retain a few old United States pieces of artillery at Lexington, Va., for the instruction of his military school in gunnery practice. Secretary Stanton, however, promptly sent an officer to convey the guns to Richmond.

We find the foregoing taking the rounds of the papers, which we think must be wholly incorrect. General Lee has no connection with the Military Institute of Virginia at Lexington, but is President of Washington College, a purely literary institution at that place. Having no use for artillery, he would hardly have asked for them.

Our Loyalty Again.

The Salisbury Banner is fully in earnest in defending the loyalty of the State. It continues to hit its confreres pretty hard. On the 21st, it says:

We regretted very much that our contemporaries the Standard and Progress should have become so jaundiced as to have preferred such grave charges. We hope that upon more mature reflection, they may feel warranted in withdrawing them.

The charges were made in a loose manner and couched in broad and general terms.

We call for the specifications.—Wherein have some thirty thousand voters exhibited their disloyalty? The most specific allegation is, that the 'disloyalists' do not wish to return to the Union under the lead of Union men.

Can such an inference be fairly drawn from the vote given to Mr. Worth? His Union record is as unimpeachable as perhaps any public man in the State. He voted against even the call for a Convention—he refused to become a member of the convention after it was called—he was stigmatised for these and many other imputed acts and opinions as disloyal to the South.

If any man in North Carolina can fairly lay claim to consistent Unionism, that man is Jonathan Worth. Mr. Turner, who has been recently elected to Congress, voted with Mr. Worth and Sharp against the call for the Convention. These three men were all in the Legislature who stood up and battled manfully and fearlessly for the integrity of the Union, when that whirlwind of passion and excitement swept over the Sate in the winter of 1861.

Each one of these gentlemen has in the late election received at the ballot box the endorsement of the people. Does this look like refusing to reconstruct under Union leaders?

The Mexican Ministry--Logan's Acceptance not yet Received--Sheridan's Movements Directed from Washington, etc.

WASHINGTON, November 17.—General Logan has not yet signified his acceptance of the Mexican mission. He has been telegraphed to report to Washington, but no reply has been received. In the event of his declining, another person will be designated, who will be immediately despatched to the headquarters of Juarez, with instructions to continue to follow the fortunes of the Liberal government, thereby lending all the moral aid possible to strengthen and sustain the Liberal cause.

The movement of troops from Sheridan's department to the Rio Grande is in accordance with instructions from these headquarters. The Government is fully advised in regard to matters in that vicinity.

Further from Mexico--Retaliation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19th.—The Herald's city of Mexico correspondence states that the Mexican General Palacios, in retaliation for the execution of the Liberal Generals by the French, has ordered all the French, Austrian and Belgian prisoners held by him to be shot. It has previously been stated that the Imperialist Colonel Mendez had ordered the Liberal Generals Artega and Salazark, and three Colonels, to be shot. The Herald's correspondence also says that the reported defeats of Figuero by the Imperialists is false. Ugalde, who was also said to have been routed, had arrived at Muscatio with 500 men, having made a raid thither.

The defeat of Ortega in Michoacan is said to be of no very great importance, as there are over 4 000 well armed and organized Liberal troops in that State, commanded by several popular leaders. Between four and five hundred Imperial soldiers, suffering from intermittent fever, had arrived at San Luis recently, and they were dying off rapidly.

Maximilliam's journey to Yucatan is deferred, the writer thinks, until the Emperor judges that it is time for him to leave the country. The Empress would start on the 5th instant for Vera Cruz and Yucatan.

Memorial of the Mississippi Legislature--Action Against Negro Testimony--The Freedmen's Bureau Yet to Exist.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 16.—The Mississippi Legislature has adopted a memorial to President Johnson, praying the withdrawal of the United States troops from Mississippi. The House of Representatives has rejected by a decided vote, the proposition to admit negro testimony against whites. Judge Gwin, at Jackson, has declared the action of the Legislature abolishing cotton courts unconstitutional. Governor Humphreys vetoed the bill, but the Legislature passed the bill over his veto.

The Vicksburg Herald says that General Howard, of the Freedmen's Bureau, states that he had not discovered the condition of affairs sufficiently promising in Southern States to justify him in recommending the withdrawal of the Freedmen's Bureau. He regarded affairs as improving in Georgia and Alabama.

Yancey and Mitchell,

Mr. Speaker Colfax Opposes the Admission of the Southern Representatives to Congress.

The Hon. Schuyler Colfax, on being serenaded at Washington, on Saturday evening, responded to the compliment by a speech, in which he discussed the question of the admission into Congress of the Senators and Representatives elected from the South. Mr. Colfax took the ultra-radical ground, and not only declared himself in favor of negro suffrage, but also of putting the Southern people upon an indefinite probation before recognizing their right to representation at Washington. As a foreshadowing of the course which the Radicals propose to take during the coming session, this programme, is laid down by Mr. Colfax, not less than the bitterly hostile feeling which he displays towards the South, will command very general attention.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, speaking of this address, says:

The topic of to-day is the speech of Mr Colfax, at the National Hotel, last evening. He has said that he had only a brief interview with the President, therefore his remarks are not to be regarded as indicating the character of the forthcoming message. But Mr. Colfax has been Speaker and is likely to be again. He is demonstrative, as was shown last winter, by descending from the chair to institute proceedings, against Mr. Harris, of your State. He is ambitious, and therefore has recalled his express determination of retiring from Congress, and he probably looks higher than to the third office in honor in the Government.

Mr. Colfax, like Mr. Forney, and perhaps a very few other, throws out ideas which he intends shall influence the course of the President, and enlist the support of the country. These views look to legislation that will disturb the South for a decede, if they are not rebooed by a sound public opinion. They as much as desired of the President not to make other requirements of the South than he has done. Nothing short of that condition that will make the rebel States what the East Indies are to Great Britain, will satisfy the plunderers whose names are legion. I believe that they will fail in their man if they mush depend upon the President for aid and comfort.

Recuperation.

If it should turn out that members elect from the Provisional States, and those from other States who cannot take the odious Test Oath, are excluded from seats in Congress, the States thereby left without representation will have their remedy in the future, and their revenge, if revenge be agreeable, in the reflection that the verdict of mankind, and the judgment of history will fix the seal of condemnation on those who, in the hour of triumph, allow unmanly resentments to usurp the place which, in nobler natures, is given to magnanimity, and who employ the brute force of numbers against right, reason and the obligations of the Constitution. The picture of a fully restored Union, and a complete pacification, which would be exhibited by the occupation of every seat in Congress, is one which every real friend of the Republic should be eager and proud to present to the world.—But if a short-sighted, factious and malignant policy is to prevail, the excluded States have been sufficiently schooled in the experience of disappointment and injustice to bear with equanimity a new attempt at wrong.

NAPOLEON, when a prisoner on the rock of St. Helena, observed to Doctor O'MEARA that, although he had had many and powerful enemies, nobody ever injured him but himself. That observation might be made of general application. It is very seldom that any man is ever injured by another, if he only remain true to himself. Let the Southern people so conduct themselves as to afford not the shadow of a pretext to their enemies for farther oppression. They are watched with a malignant vigilance that knows no sleep day or night. They are environed by spies sent for their especial destruction, and instructed to suppress every thing that may tend to their disadvantage. Reporters out of number are scattered over the land with directions as to what they shall report made out for them before they leave New York and Boston. The lies they circulate are numerous and black enough to sink a whole race to perdition. And those who print them never allow them to be contradicted, so that they pass for gospel truths with the general population of the North. It is by such agencies that Southern States are to be deprived of their rights; that, after having fought four years to restore the Union, those who succeeded are determined still to keep it asunder. In such a situation, becomes the Southern people to be doubly watchful over their conduct. Let them so act that all reports to their disadvantage shall be so many lies—apparent as such—and so that the most prying malice shall not be able to record anything against them. The war which the South for four years sustained, against odds unprecedented in the history of any other country, is already the admiration and the amazement of mankind. Let those who maintained so stoutly the unequal contest show that they are still the same people—that their endurance is equal to their courage, and that, though overwhelmed by numbers in the field, their fortitude is invincible.

What, then, is to be done? The answer is obvious. Let the people of the South, in the first place, set about repairing their fortunes, broken by the disasters of a long and unfortunate war. Let them rebuild their ruined houses, and reinclose their fenceless fields. Let them develop the immense resources of their country, which thus far have been of little more service than if they had never existed. Let them reduce the size of their large plantations, and introduce a hardy, healthy, active tenantry, reducing the cultivation of lands to a system, and causing three blades of grass to grow in every spot where one grew before. Let them fill up the country with a hardy set of intelligent farmers and laborers, who shall know the value of liberty, and the requirements it exacts from those who are blessed with it. Let them turn their backs forever on all agitators and demagogues, and, remembering what these have have done for them in times past, give them no opportunity to repeat their precious gifts. Let them eschew Federal politics and confine themselves to what will be of service only to their own States. Next in order, let them turn their attention to the mineral wealth with which the bowels of their country are laden almost to bursting. Let them attend first to these things, and they will grow rich and powerful. Internal improvements, railroads, canal and neighborhood roads always follow hard upon the heels of wealth. We shall soon find the surface of these States covered over with railroads as with a web. —Richmond Whig.

The imperial decree appointing General Magruder Chief of the Land Bureau mentions the sum of $3,000 as being allotted to him for salary, besides $500 for his office expenses, $100 a month for his rent $150 for furniture, and $300 a year for a porter.—Mexican Cor.

Outlawry at St. Louis—Highway Robberies and Burglaries—A Vigilance Committee Contemplated.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Highway robberies and burglaries are becoming so frequent and daring here lately, as to create general alarm, and citizens are seriously contemplating the formation of vigilance committees. Two men have been killed in encounters with highway robbers, and people are nightly robbed on the street and houses broken into by burglars.

About noon yesterday, the collecting messenger of the United States Saving Bank, having $35,000 in his pouch, was knocked down on one of the most frequented streets and his money seized. The collector, however, fired with his revolver at the robber, who dropped the money, but escaped.

Bernoist & Co.'s bank was also robbed, yesterday, of $7,000. No clue to the robbers has been obtained.

From Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Letters from Acapulco to the 3d inst. state that the French garrison there had been strengthened by the arrival of 500 men from Mazatlan.

Late news from Mechoacan states that the French have collected considerable forces, and scattered the Juarist forces, capturing five Liberal Generals, named Ortega, Paraparas, Dios, Zalazaan and Trouzo, who were subsequently shot. This angered General Alvarez, who had proclaimed the life of every captured French or Imperial General as forfeited.

Intervention in Mexican Affairs.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The New Orleans Times says, in relation to the rumors of naval and military preparations: "We have information that we are not at liberty to disclose, giving positive corroboration to these rumors, and we hesitate not to predict that unless the French troops are withdrawn from Mexico before Christmas, there will be active intervention on behalf of the Liberals, and the traditional policy of the United States be vindicated."

No More Troops to be Mustered Out in the State of Texas.

NEW ORLEANS, November 16.—The Houston Telegraph of the 10th instant learns that orders have been received in the State from Washington not to muster out of the service any more troops, nor to sell any more government property until further orders.

Brigham Young has had a new "revelation."—He says it is "the will of God that the sisters should make their own bonnets and hats for themselves and their families, from straw and other materials raised in the Utah mountains." The next "revelation" will probably dictate the style in which they are to be made and worn. It is said that Brigham Young has a large lot of rye straw "for sale in lots to suit purchasers," which perhaps accounts for the straw hat revelation.

Pioneer Line of Steamers

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A.M. connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

250 TONS OF FREIGHT,

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

Gov. Holden has been quite indisposed for the last two weeks, having been confined by neuralgia and fever, so as to render him unable to attend to business. We are glad to learn he is improving, and will soon be able to attend to the duties of his office.

WAKE COUNTY COURT.—This Court has been in session this week. Nothing beyond the ordinary business of the County, and proving wills &c., has been attempted.

We learn that the Court refused to qualify the new Clerk and Sheriff, inasmuch as the Provisional government is still in operation. Perhaps it would have been well to conform to the law and have their election verified, although they do not enter upon their duties until the regular government goes into operation.

The Two Andrews.

[From Harper's Weekly.]

"I say, I say, General Jackson, for fear you should think I have some axe to grind, because I try so hard to keep you at my poor house all night, I will agree to keep you free of expense!" expostulated the landlord of the only inn in the village of Jefferson, Ashe county, North Carolina, to General Jackson, late one evening in the autumn of 18—, as he entered his carriage to pursue his journey toward Tennessee. "The Blue Ridge is infested with banditti, and you will certainly be robbed and possibly murdered before morning. I beseech you stay!"

"You are very kind, sir, and I thank you," replied the general, "but I shall proceed, and try and reach the Tennessee line at all events. I have no fears of being molested. Drive on, Ned, briskly. Adieu, gentlemen, all!" and the old hero drove off at a rapid pace.

"Hillon there, youngster!" cried the landlord, to a slim, wiry, flaxen headed strippling, standing in the motley crowd in front of the tavern, "if you are going to Tennessee you had better jump up behind and go along with the general; it's as cheap riding as walking."

"Sure enough, I reckon I'd better, and thank you," replied the young man, jumping up behind the coach as it drove off.

They rode on quietly for some hours, until they began to ascend the mountain, when the general, hearing a slight cough behind, called out sternly:

"Who's that?"

It's me, sir—Andrew Johnson. I am a traveller, on my way to Tennessee, and I thought I might get a lift on your carriage, sir. I beg your pardon sir."

"You are quite welcome, sir, to my carriage. Come forward and take a seat with me."

"Thank you, sir; but as the mountain is rather steep here I'll jump off and walk up."

He walk forward up the mountain side in advance of the carriage, but had not gone far before he saw a man ahead of him ascending the mountain; he appeared to be intoxicated. He lurched this way and that way, staggering backward and forward; now his knees would double up and he would miss a step, as if the earth had suddenly vanished before him; then he would cross his legs, and a lurch would send him diagonally across the road. He stopped and braced himself up so as nearly to fall backward, and then drifted helplessly along. Presently he turned an angle in the road and was out of sight.

"That is beastly drunk!" remarked the general.

"Drunk!—not much, sir," laughed the young man; "he's no more drunk than I am. He's playing 'possum and means mischief. Look there! he's lying in the road"

As they drove up he raised himself lazily and hailed them. "Hic! ah!—I say, gentlemen, can't you give a man a lift! I—I—hic! can't walk; I'm loaded too heavily with d—d mean whiskey."

"Then stay where you are and get rid of it," replied the general, sternly.

"The devil!" exclaimed the man, springing to his feet with the agility of a cat. He gave a keen whistle and planted himself in front of the coach. Three men sprung out from the bushes, and made a rush from the carriage.

Quick as thought the general sprang upon one of them, and they rolled over in the road together. A dull, crashing sound was next heard over the road, and a second one rolled over in the dust, propelled by the loaded whip in the powerful hands of the driver. The young man, by a timely shot, fired and brought down a third, and then sprang to the assistance of the general, who still fought manfully with his herculean antagonist, while the driver engaged the remaining robber.

"Stand back! stand back!" cried the general to the young man; "we are man to man, I'll give the villain fair play. By the eternal, I have you now!" and he threw his antagonist over, apparently lifeless.

"Are you hurt, my boy?" asked the general. "And you, too, Ned! Where is Ned."

"Here, massa," replied the boy, puffing up the road. "My robber coward, he run. I golly.—He! he! he! I save one, massa save one and de young gentleman save one. He! he! he!"

All this occurred in less time than it takes to record it.

"But you, general, are you hurt?"

"No, nothing but a few bruises, thank God! But look here, one of them is stirring. You, sir, and Ned, pinion his hands, while I examine the others."

None of them were found to be dead. Two were only stunned, and the third had received a pistol shot through the shoulder, and was crouching affright. They were all soon pinioned, and a council was held, when it was determined to disarm them and let them go rather than be detained on the road. No further incidents befell our travellers during their jaunt.

On their separation in Tennessee the general gave the young man much good advice. He recounted to him his own history, and bade him aspire to be good and useful. The general continued en route for his home in Middle Tennessee, and the young man stopped and settled in the town of Greenville, Tennessee as a journeyman tailor. Of his subsequent career it is needless to speak; it is part of the history of our country.

M. E. D.

Jonesborough, Tenn., Nov. 1866.

Gen. E. Kirby Smith arrived in Lynchburg Sunday morning, 12th inst., direct from Cuba, where he has been sojourning for several months. His many friends will rejoice to welcome him back to the country again. He comes in pursuance of authority from Gen. Grant to do so, to be placed on the footing of other Confederate officers of his rank.

Mr. H. N. Baker, who was so severely wounded in the recent tragedy in Cumberland county, died from his wounds on the 14th inst. Mr. Baker was a native of Woodbury, Pa., and was aged about twenty-six years.

DIED,

In this County on the 13th instant, Mr. J. D. WHITAKER, aged 20 years, son of William Whitaker, Esq.

In Oxford, N. C., on 10th November, Mrs. S. A., wife of Dr. W. B. Pleasants of Richmond, Va., and daughter of the late Col. J. I Hicks, after a long and painful illness, with that insidious disease, which selects for its victims, the fairest and loveliest of creation. Her gentle and unobtrusive manners, secured to her many warmly attached and admiring friends. Her heart was ever open to the claims of benevolence and sympathy for the woes of others. Few and fleeting were the years of her life! Death too soon severed the ties of husband and wife, mother and children, brother and sister, with a crushing blow! With bleeding hearts they now mourn her untimely loss! She died as she had lived—a beautiful exemplification of that religion, which diffused happiness around her here, and so well sustained her in the dark hour of death! Her mission to earth is accomplished. Piety was made lovely and attractive in her life; her children, dedicated to God, were taught the pathway to heaven and will follow her footsteps there. To them she has left a precious inheritance, the remembrance of all that is pure, gentle and ennobling! There is a rest forever on high to the ransomed spirit.

COM.

"SIXTY-THREE." Original.

A Sexagenarian of this city, boasting rather ostentatiously of the privileges accorded to Sixty Three, was thus happily hitched into verse by Fanny Downing:

Yes, I know my hair is white,
All its chestnut turned to snow,
But my spirits dance as light
As at forty years ago.
Forty years—why let me see,
I was then just twenty three!

Forty years? It seems a week
Since I felt myself a man,
All before me where to seek
Life in earnest then began.
Life meant manhood, mirth and glee,
And the joys of twenty three!

Forty years! Ah, well a-day!
Time's wild horses run so fast,
Make we all the haste we may,
He will beat us at the last.
I've been standing still, but he
Forty adds to twenty three!

Well: I make my bow to Time—
Pat him gently on the back.
He has taken manhood's prime,
Taken youth, but I've no lack
Of his pleasures warm and free,
Though he makes me sixty three!

Sixty-three—a ripe old age.
'Tis not every plant I ween,
That could stand the winter's rage
Three score years, and yet be green!
Rooted like some strong old tree,
I can well be sixty three.

Sixty three! 'Tis wisdom's age,
Rich with all the varied lore
Of experience; I'll engage
Each communing with her store,
Like a diver in the sea
Brings up pearls for sixty three!

Sixty three! I'm hale and strong,
And my heart is true and warm,
Thankful as a Christmas song
Treasuring good, unheeding harm.
Fleet of foot and free of knee,
What care I for sixty three?

And I'll whisper in your ear,
Many a pleasure o'er me flows;
I have privileges dear
That youth's season never knows.
All the women folks agree
There's no harm in sixty three.

There's no harm! 'Tis not amiss
If I see a pretty lip,
To salute it with a kiss,
And its rosy sweetness sip.
And the brightest eyes may be
Fearless turned on sixty three!

Stately Margaret, laughing Lou,
Gentle Alice, queenlike Maud,
Romping Kate, and saucy Sue,
All my age's rights accord.
Sipping honey like a bee,
Who would not be sixty three?

I have tried to spend my life,
As I take it, as I men should;
Passing pure through earthly strife,
Being happy—doing good.
Catching sunshine, let it be
At sixteen or sixty three.

Many sorrows I have known,
Many a pang has racked my heart,
But no outward sign or moan
Has revealed the inward smart.
Many a youth has wished that he
Were as calm as sixty three.

'Twas not that I felt them less,
But the very woe they wrought,
By its own severe excess,
Calm and peace and healing brought.
And if this their influence be,
Who so wise as sixty three?

Then my sorrows made me know
Fellowship in others' grief,
And by kindly deeds to show
Sympathy, and give relief.
So that sufferers say they see
Soothing charms in sixty three.

And I trust as time speeds on,
And the rapid moments roll
Up to the eternal morn,
The Great Maker of my soul
May adjudge it this decree:
"Well done, servant—rest with me."

Georgia.

The New York Herald makes the following summary of the final proceedings of the Georgia Convention:

"Previous to the adjournment of the Georgia Convention, on the 8th inst., a dispatch from President Johnson was sent in by the Provisional Governor, in which the President signifies his approval of the measures for organizing a State police force to suppress outlawry, and expresses the hope that the people of Georgia will, as soon as practicable, assume the responsibility of enforcing within the limits of their commonwealth all laws, both national and State. In addition to matters heretofore noticed, resolutions were adopted providing for a committee to memorialize the President in favor of rebels exempted from amnesty, declaring all contracts made during the war valid, and requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to defer the assessment of internal revenue taxes. The Governor was authorized to appoint a commission to investigate the cotton transactions of the State government. It is said that the Georgia delegation in Congress will urge the State's claim to certain portions of the captured cotton."

☞ As the line of Railroads is opened, they will extend their business to all points in the South, in addition to those named.

The Company has also such favorable contracts with steamer lines from all Northern ports to those of the South, as will enable it to deliver goods at all in land points at rates below the usual charges. The tariff of charges will be based upon a fair business per centage above the cost of transportation, without being onerous or oppressive; nor will it be made less than the cost of transportation, with the view to break down or drive off any rival, to advance to oppressive and unnecessarily high rates. Upon this basis the Company solicits public patronage.

Horse Stolen.

A LARGE SORREL HORSE, WITH A STAR IN his face, two or three white spots on each side of the back from saddle sores near the withers, fore top tr mmed and not yet grown out, [no other marks remembered] was stolen from the Tournament Ground at Louisburg on the 14th inst.

ANOTHER!

A small black mare six years old, with a star in her face—the same which was ridden by the successful Knight in the Louisburg Tournament—was stolen from my stable in Franklin County, on the night of the 16th inst.

A liberal reward will be given for the recovery of either or both the above animals, or for information that will lead to their recovery.

GREAT BARGAINS IN CLOTHS AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

THE SUBSCRIBER RESPECTFULLY announces to his friends and patrons, and to the Members of the Legislature, and to strangers visiting the City, that he continues to carry on the

TAILORING BUSINESS

at his old stand, where he will be happy to see them and sell them great bargains in his line. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only but for the last 5 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

LARGE AND VALUABLE SALE.

ON THE 12TH OF DECEMBER NEXT, WILL BE sold to the highest bidder, all of the crop household furniture and perishable property of the late Alex S. Jones, deceased, consisting of 80 barrels of Corn,

250 bushels of Wheat,
50 stacks of Fodder and Oats,
200 pounds of Seed Cotton,
50 head of fat Hogs,
15 " of Cattle,
15 " of Horses and Mules,
4 yoke of Oxen,
30 head of Cattle,
50 " of Sheep,
Wagons, Carts and plantation utensils of every description.

The sale will commence on the upper Shocco plantation, and continue from day to day until finished.

TERMS—Six months credit, payable in specie or its equivalent in currency. Bond and approved security required before delivery of the property.

L. J. JONES, Adm'trix.

Warren County, Nov 16, 1-6s.

I offer for rent for the year 1866, the two large and valuable plantations of the late Alexander S. Jones, deceased consisting of about one thousand acres each, lying on Shocco Creek, and containing some of the best land in Warren County. The lands are admirably adapted to the growth of bright tobacco, and the chances for the next crop is excellent.

On each of the plantations a wheat crop has been sowed. If not privately disposed of, they will be rented to the highest bidder on the day of sale.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSUSANCE COMpany of Hartford, have appointed

WILLIAM H. CROW,

their General Agent for the establishing sub Agents in North Carolina and Virginia, according to his discretion. This Company has no superior in this country, is of long standing, and its Assets are over a million and a half dollars. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates are moderate and reasonable, and all losses promptly paid. Thus it is commended to all who wish to provide for their families and loved ones, a certainty for support when their earthly dependants shall have passed away.

For further information, call on the agent at his office formerly occupied by General Haywood.

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THERE ARE BUT FEW SUBJECTS PRESENTED to the mind of man upon which there are not a great variety of opinions, and about which there are not protracted discussions. But there are a few facts so well established, and so uncontrovertible that they are universally assented to. One is that all men now living, will soon be called upon to gather up their feet and depart to the land of the dead. "One generation goeth, and another cometh, and we have no abiding city here," is a matter about which there is no dispute. Another is, "Of that day, and of that hour, knoweth no man." Whether death cometh at the twelfth hour or at the cock-crowing, is of equal uncertainty to all.

Another is, that when wife and children gather around us, to take their final leave, in that sad circle centers all our earthly interest. The last earthly rational thought of Husband and Father, is Wife and Children (if worthy of sustaining such endearing relations.) Another is, no man living knows what may be the result of his efforts to secure a competence for his family. "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away," has been realized by how many? adverse winds of to-morrow, may take the place of to-day's prosperous gales; under currents which the most penetrating eye cannot see, or the strongest arm control, may in an evil hour sweep away the hard earnings of years. Another is, no man ever has, or ever can assume more sacred obligations, than Husband and Father. Hence it is said, that he that will not provide for his own household is worse than an infidel.

Now, what Husband and Father is there battling with the difficulties of life, knowing as he must, that uncertainties attend every effort, and wait upon every enterprise, that he has not with earnest voice, and anxious heart, called to the future to unlock its barred gates and reveal to him the result of this or that undertaking. But the only voice that comes from that land of silence, is, "Verily, thou knowest not what shall be on the morrow."

Such are some of the few facts about which there is no controversy, and such are some of the uncertainties that ever have, and ever will gather around our pathway through life, and which have in generations past, and will in generations to come trouble and oppress the Husband and Father. Now in view of these facts, responsibilities, and uncertainties, it is for you to judge and decide upon the propriety, necessity, and duty, of making a policy on your life, for the benefit of your family. Will it not relieve you of your present anxiety to know that a certain portion of the fruits of you labors are secured to that family? Remember that whatever you pay for a life policy is paid to them. The stranger intermeddleth not with that.

Remember also, that $5000 paid to them in that day when the heart and flesh shall fail you, will be more to them, than $10,000 while you are here to provide for them. Also remember, that the amount for which you are insured will not be diminished in the settling of your estate, and that from generation to generation, Life Insurance has answered the end for which it was ordained, as fully, to say to the least, as any institution of man's creation, and that its primary object was, and still is, to secure the family against the stern realities of want, and to relieve from corroding anxiety those who have assumed family responsibilities.

Do you say "I know it would be wise in me to take out a policy and I intend to do so soon; but just now I want to use all my funds in my business."—Friend, if it is wisdom in you to insure at all, it is folly to defer it, to-morrow is in eternity, therefore "Boast not thyself of to morrow," "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." "Procrastination is the thief of time."

The Aetna Life Insurance Company offers you all the inducements to insure that can be found in any company. Its assets are over a million and a half. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates for insurance are as reasonable as those of any other well established responsible Company. It is paying as large dividends to its policy holders as any other Company. Its officers are competent business men. Its assets, are as permanently and as safely invested as any other company can invest theirs, and from which as good interest is being received. It pays its losses as promptly, is as particular in the character of its risks, and as yet it is a stranger to litigation.
